£40,000 a year - Permanent

Back-End/Full Stack developer (Drupal 7/ Node.JS / Python / AngularJS / ReactJS)

Location: London

Employment: Permanent

Salary: £35-40k - subject to experience

Are you an ambitious Back-End/Full Stack developer looking for the opportunity to further develop yourself?

Would you be interested in working for a company that can offer you the support to be fast-tracked into a more senior position?

This is an exciting opportunity to work as part of a small, highly specialised team in a London based, digital consultancy. Their recent clients include the Bank of Scotland, UEFA, NHS – National Innovation Centre, Turner Broadcasting and a range of others. As well as having top-tier clients, they also build their own SaaS products and release open-source projects.

The right candidate can expect to get an invaluable range of experience in a number of modern technologies, whilst also being able to take pride in having an active role in influencing the company's strategy.

Requirements:

- Excellent working knowledge of Drupal 7 (you shall be using this platform heavily for the first 6 months)
- Experience with either Node.JS or Python
- Experience in modern front-end technologies (e.g. AngularJS or ReactJS)
- Sharp communication and problem solving abilities
- A good sense of humour

Nice to have:

- Drupal.org account with published modules
- Github account with example code
- Experience with automated test frameworks
- Experience with setting up and maintaining servers/continuous integration deploy processes

If you have the skills and ambition to excel in this role and would like to find out more information then please get in touch.
